BACKGROUND

As part of the General Education (GE) revitalization process, GE courses will have unique features that distinguish them from other courses in the curriculum. Central among these unique features is that the course content will address a Big Question (BQ) so that students can appreciate the broader implications and meaning of the course. These implications and meaning may involve social, [illegible]

The Signature Assignment (SA) is designed to assess this unique feature of GE courses and, by doing so, the assessment will tap program-level student learning outcomes for GE. The program learning outcomes [illegible] study integration and application of contentec [illegible]
