

e-Bulletin

Volume 5, No. 1 | September 2015

Welcome !

Thank you for reading the first e-Bulletin of the 2015–16 academic year. We are always pleased to celebrate the achievements of our departments, faculty, staff, students and Hendrik Ombach*, Lyndsi Drysdale* and Todd Baird (Psychology) published the research summary “Attitudes toward obesity and their effect on discrimination in the hiring process” in ERGO Undergraduate Research Journal. 2015.

Branden Little (History) will publish the article “Evacuating wartime Europe: U.S. policy, strategy and relief operations for American travelers, 1914- 1915” in the Journal of Military History. October 2015.

Michael C. Friedman, Shannon McGillivray (Psychology,) Kou Murayama and Alan D. Castel published the article “Memory for medication side effects in younger and older adults” in Memory and Cognition, Vol. 43, Pages 206-215. 2015.

Presentations and Workshops :

Eric Amsel (Psychology,) Kathryn Van Wagoner (Mathematics,) Wolff, K. and Rachel Bachman (Mathematics) presented the paper “ College developmental mathematics students' understanding of fundamental algebraic concepts and processes” at the Jean Piaget Symposium, 2015.

assessment” at the Biennial Vancouver International Teaching Conference, Vancouver, Canada, July 2015.

Eric Ewert (Geography) gave the presentation “Northern Utah Geospatial Technology Education Program (NUGeo Tec) Update” at the Quarterly Meetings of the Northern Utah GIS User’s Group, Layton, Utah, May 2015.

Eric Ewert (Geography) gave the presentation “Geospatial Employer Survey: Using Results to Build Better Curriculum” at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers (AAG,) Chicago, Illinois, April 2015.

Robert Fudge (Political Science) presented “The Conscience of Huck Finn: An Enduring

Branden Little (History) presented papers on humanitarian relief during World Wars I and II at the Hoover Presidential Library in Iowa, June 2015 and the Fort Douglas Jamie Stokes* was awarded the Female Athlete of the Year award at the Crystal Crest Award ceremony. April 2015.

Eric Ewert (Geography) provided commentary for “Desert Water: A New Water Ethic,” a 2015 film based on the book “Desert Water: The Future of Utah’s Water Resources” by Hall Crimmel. University of Utah Press: 2014.

Stephanie Wolfe (Political Science) was elected to the executive board of the International Association of Genocide Scholars for a two -year term.

Huiying Wei -Hill (Sociology) successful.8(o)7e5(u)6ss)2

The Weber State University Neuroscience Club received $400 in grant funding from WSU Clubs and Organizations, this funding was used to support Brain Awareness Week outreach.

Upcoming Events

September 30 - Career Services and The Walker Institute will host "Career Cafe: Internships -The New Interview," a panel discussion of Legacy of Joe Hill After a Century," an examination of Hill's legacy as a radical labor activist and songwriter, Dumke Legacy Hall, 7 p.m., free and open to the public