

May 15, 2017

I appreciate the work of the program review team (Drs. Mary Virnoche, Barbara Wachocki, and Eric Ewert) in producing their thoughtful report, and the work of the Sociology faculty as software, with its ability to flag students with problems and alert advisors. I might add that the -time advisors are an additional advising resource, particularly on general University graduation requirements.

Public sociologists members who could support the engaged community pathway. The faculty believes that, now that they will be at full-strength of six full-time, tenure-track faculty, they can address this need internally, though they envision inviting such public figures to campus to lecture and meet with students.

weaknesses, and its recommendations are aimed at enhancing what the program already does in their work to continuously improve the